Friday Night LIVE - Waganupa Brewing

Starts at 6pm

Welcome back one of our favorites.

Max Minardi is a full-time touring musician whose music blends Americana storytelling with modern folk-pop warmth — think Cat Stevens meets Noah Kahan with a little James Taylor thrown in for good measure. Whether he's performing solo with his signature loop-station setup or bringing the full band, his shows are built on the kind of musicianship and authenticity that reminds you why live music matters.

*With over 200 shows a year and more than a decade touring the United States, Canada, and Europe, Max has earned a reputation as a master storyteller who connects with every room he walks into. His latest album Anywhere is a beautifully crafted collection of songs about heartbreak, love, and life on the road — and it sounds even better live.*

This is a family night — kids and four-legged friends are welcome and encouraged. Bring your own food, grab takeout on the way, and let Max handle the rest.

Friday Night LIVE - Waganupa Brewing

Starts at 6pm

? Friday Night Live — Danny Horton

May 22nd · 5:30–8:30 PM · Waganupa Brewing

Welcome back one of our favorites — and one of Plumas County's own.

Danny Horton is a singer/songwriter living in the heart of the Sierra Nevada mountains. He has been playing professionally since 1995, toured around the globe, and reached number 8 on the European charts while signed to Tiefdruck/Universal — before returning home to Blairsden/Graeagle right here in Plumas County.

His soulful voice has been compared to Chris Stapleton mixed with Johnny Cash — weathered vagabond one moment, smooth crooner the next, and hootin' and hollerin' the next. His sound pulls from Classic Country, Folk, and Classic Rock, with just enough punk rock edge to keep things interesting. He plays a Martin guitar while kicking his own bass drum and snare — a one-man rhythm section with a whole lot of soul.

We loved having Danny the first time around, and this return visit is going to be one to remember.

This is a family night — kids and four-legged friends are welcome and encouraged. Bring your own food, grab takeout on the way, and let us handle the cold pints.

Amber Mae is a multi-talented artist and singer-songwriter with deep Northern California roots. Born in Redding and raised in the Napa Valley, she grew up in a creative family where artistic expression was woven into everyday life. That upbringing shows in everything she does — her performances are warm, genuine, and the kind that make a taproom feel like the coziest room in the world.

This is her third time gracing the Waganupa stage, and if her last two shows are any indication, you already know what you're in for. If you haven't seen her yet — tonight's the night.

Friday Night LIVE - Waganupa Brewing

Starts at 6pm

? Friday Night Live — Farrow and the Peach Leaves

June 18th · 6:00–8:00 PM · Waganupa Brewing

Kick off the holiday weekend the right way — with a band you won't soon forget.

Farrow and the Peach Leaves are a Nevada City, California outfit who have chiseled out their own unique brand of Americana, Blues, Rock and Country — packed with thick blues guitars, locomotive rhythm, and seventies country rock overtones. Fronted by singer-songwriter Graham Farrow Knibb, the band pushes buttons that bring audiences as much to tears as to dancing. Their songs orbit themes of loneliness and love, betrayal and joy — with a deft earnestness that's deeply rooted in the Sierra Foothills they call home.

With three albums under their belt and a robust following up and down the West Coast, these are musicians at the top of their game. Come find out what all the buzz is about.

This is a family night — kids and four-legged friends are welcome and encouraged. Bring your own food, grab takeout on the way, and let us handle the cold pints.

Friday Night LIVE - Waganupa Brewing

Starts at 6pm

? Friday Night Live — Michael Russell

June 19th · 6:00–8:00 PM · Waganupa Brewing

He's back — and tonight we celebrate!

Michael Russell is a guitarist, singer, and songwriter based out of Northern California whose stone-cold blues guitar licks, old school rock 'n' roll energy, and timeless songwriting style make him one of the most exciting live acts in the region. Whether he's performing solo or with the Michael Russell Trio, every show is a masterclass in blues and roots rock — raw, soulful, and impossible to sit still through.

We're thrilled to have Michael back on the Waganupa stage on this very special evening. Come raise a glass, celebrate the day, and let the music do the rest.

This is a family night — kids and four-legged friends are welcome and encouraged. Bring your own food, grab takeout on the way, and let us handle the cold pints.

Friday Night LIVE - Waganupa Brewing

Starts at 6pm

? Friday Night Live — Chicken Fried Cats

June 20th · 6:00–9:00 PM · Waganupa Brewing

Happy Father's Day Eve — and what better gift than three hours of Texafornia outlaw country?

Captain Kitten's Chicken Fried Cats have crept down from their Northern California ridgetop hideouts and onto our stage for a night that's equal parts class and crass. This five-piece Sierra Nevada outfit combines tasty chicken-pickin' guitar licks and starry pedal steel cascades with Captain Kitten's raunchy wit and creamy baritone drawl — a sound they proudly call "Texafornia outlaw country." With a bull fiddle holding down the low end and drums keeping the whole thing rolling, this is honky tonk the way it was meant to be played.

Bring Dad. Bring the kids. Bring the dog. And stay for all three hours.

This is a family night — kids and four-legged friends are welcome and encouraged. Bring your own food, grab takeout on the way, and let us handle the cold pints.
